

Maharashtra State Commission For women

Maharashtra state commission for women was established on January 25th 1993 under the Maharashtra Act, no. XV of 1993.

Special provisions have been made in the Indian constitution to ensure the protection for woman's status in the society. In accordance with these provisions, the government established a State Commission for Woman on the National Commission for woman, with the aim of furthering the fundamental rights guaranteed by articles 14, 15 and 16 of the constitution of India.

The main focus of the commission is to work towards the betterment and empowerment of woman.

About the seminar

Theme: 'Influence of social media on youth' ("we don't have a choice on whether we DO social media. The question is how well we do it.")

Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, YouTube, blogs, what'sapp—social media is everywhere and we all take part in the growing conversation in one shape or form whether we want to or not. Indeed, the introduction of social media in this digital era has really enhanced interactions and communication. Globally, Social media has gained credibility over the years as a trusted source of information and platform where people connect with each other.

Today, social Media in education refers to the practice of using social media platforms as a way to enhance the education of students with the right strategy. Social media can make studying more collaborative and efficient.

On the contrary, a question arises....

Is social media killing a personal, emotional and social life? The answer is affirmative.

The social media is single handedly breaking up relationships, hampering emotional life and is also affecting social life.

To sum up, exceptions do exist. Thus, social media is designed with an intension to become a new form of cult. Thus, social network is a catalyst to connect, collaborate and share if we are aware of the quote... "The social media journey - when to participate."
